The college's suspended flooring required a range that could not only withstand the high footfall of students and was simple to maintain, but also flexible enough to easily gain access to the under floor utilities.

Head of Estates at North Hertfordshire College, Brian Sapsed, believes the contemporary finish enhances the professional image of the college.

He said: "We are very pleased with the wood effect flooring. The Bleached Elm creates a modern airy look that is more conducive to learning.

Contractors, Contract Design Flooring, CDF, specified and fitted the Amtico Spacia Access flooring. "Having worked with CDF on previous projects we have installed Amtico in various areas in our other four sites and have always found it to be very durable and retain its appearance. The Spacia Access range has enabled us to replicate these benefits and also reduce our maintenance cost."
